

WORM RISK CHECKER FOR DOGS

Elanco

Find out in just 2 minutes how often you should be worming. Many things can affect your dog's risk of getting worms and you may need to deworm your pet as regularly as monthly. It takes as little as 30 days for eggs to develop into harmful worms!¹

If the individual risk of an animal cannot be judged clearly, the animal should be examined or dewormed at least 4 times a year. Studies have shown that deworming 1–3 times a year does not provide sufficient protection.¹
